

The citizens of Indiana should have the right to block anyone from calling them. This is a free country. The people have the right to not have to listen to their phone ring off the hook.